Attached is a list containing revised sourcelines for [redacted] radio and television transmitters, as approved by our FCS. In general, I believe these follow your recommendations. We have not coordinated these with BBC and it is possible that they may raise objections. We believe it best however to proceed and see if objections are raised, rather than get involved in lengthy advance discussions. Perhaps this way BBC will accept a fait accompli.

I trust you are satisfied with the increased material from Asia. I am sorry that we had to drop the AFP and Kyodo material, but our contracts with the two services clearly preclude passing this material to non-U.S. government consumers. In any event you will be receiving far more significant material under the new arrangement than you will be losing.

It was most enjoyable to see and talk to you again. I hope Susi and I will be able to [redacted] in the next year or so, after we have settled down in California. Please give my regards and best wishes to Hans, Alexis, and my other friends [redacted]

Regards,
